User Experience (What to sl...)

When we asked them to indicate the most important publishing, we found that it's the Journal Name Access along with who is going to pay for publishing amongst the suggested features that received the most responses and were of high importance to researchers.

Among the researchers who do not know what to search for, keywords was shown to be their least important concept.

The screenshot shows the SciFree search interface. At the top left is the Karlstad University logo. The main search area has a search bar with the text "bio" and a search icon. Below the search bar, it says "Results for 'bio' 50 / 787" and a "SHOW MORE" button. A table lists search results with columns for "Journals", "Who pays", "License Option", and "Publishing Model".
